Program Information

Attention is called to the program of the Russian and East European Institute, which offers students an opportunity to combine work for an advanced degree in the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures with interdisciplinary area study of the former Soviet Union or Eastern Europe.

Attention is also called to the Summer Workshop in Slavic and East European Languages, which offers a special certificate program that provides intensive language training in Russian at advanced levels not available during the regular academic year. The workshop also offers first-year and occasionally second-year courses in other Slavic, East European, and Eurasian languages.

Special Departmental Requirements

(See also general University Graduate School requirements.)

General Provision

Students wishing the recommendation of the department for teaching positions must present evidence of their ability to teach Russian through actual teaching experience under departmental supervision.

Master of Arts Degree

Admission Requirements

Graduate Record Examination General Test. Entering students are expected to have: (1) active and passive knowledge of the Russian language adequate for graduate study, as determined by a proficiency examination based on the department's fourth-year course, (2) a general acquaintance with the major works of nineteenth- and twentieth-century Russian literature equivalent to at least the materials covered in a two-semester undergraduate survey course, and (3) a reading knowledge of German or French. Students seeking to study a departmental language other than Russian must demonstrate a clear interest in that language (e.g., prior study, overseas experience in the relevant country, etc.) for admission.

Students enrolling with deficiencies in any of the areas listed previously are encouraged to remove them during the summer preceding the start of their graduate work. Students with a Russian language deficiency are urged to apply to the Summer Workshop. Courses taken to satisfy deficiency requirements in Russian, French, or German will not carry graduate credit and will lie outside of the 30 credit hours required for the M.A. degree. Students with a deficiency in Russian literature may take the departmental undergraduate survey courses (R263-R264) without credit.

General Course Requirements

A minimum of thirty (30) credit hours of courses carrying graduate credit, at least 20 of which must be taken in the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures.

Track Requirements

In addition to the general course requirements, students pursuing the M.A. degree shall complete one of the four programs described as follows. Tracks 1 and 2 are structured primarily for preparing students who wish to continue toward a Ph.D. degree with a specialization in Russian literature or Slavic linguistics; Track 3 is designed mainly for students pursuing a departmental language other than Russian; Track 4 is for those with other career goals in mind.

Track 1 Russian Literature M.A. Requirements

1. R500 Proseminar in Russian Literature
2. L571 Old Church Slavonic or L576 History of the Russian Literary Language or L501 Structure of Russian I
3. R501-R502 Advanced Russian Syntax and Stylistics I and II
4. R403 Russian Phonetics
5. R503 Old Russian Literature or R504 Eighteenth-Century Russian Literature
6. R505-R506 Nineteenth-Century Russian Literature I and II
7. R507-R508 Twentieth-Century Russian Literature I and II

Total: 30 credits

Track 2 Slavic Linguistics M.A. Requirements

1. L501 Structure of Russian I: Phonology and Morphology
2. L502 Structure of Russian II: Syntax and Semantics
3. L571 Old Church Slavonic

4. R403 Russian Phonetics
5. Two semesters of a West or South Slavic language
6. R501-R502 Advanced Russian Syntax and Stylistics I and II
7. R505 Nineteenth-Century Russian Literature I or R506 Nineteenth-Century Russian Literature II
8. One SLAV linguistics course

Total: 30 credits

Track 3 Language and Area Studies

Two survey-type Slavic literature courses at the graduate level; a departmental language other than Russian (6-12 credit hours), and 3 credit hours in the department as approved by the graduate advisor; and, in addition, 9 credit hours of graduate courses inside or outside the department selected with the approval of the graduate advisor. (Students taking this option are encouraged to fulfill the additional requirements for a certificate in the Russian and East European Institute. See following.)

Track 4 Dual Concentration

Two survey-type Slavic literature courses at the graduate level; plus two additional graduate courses in the department; and a program of at least 9 graduate credits in one other department approved by the graduate advisor, such as business, comparative literature, economics, fine arts, geography, history, linguistics, literature, music, political science, or a foreign language.

Students may be exempted from Slavic language courses by passing proficiency examinations.

Examination

No examination is required for a terminal M.A. degree, but a doctoral admission examination, based on the M.A. program for Tracks 1, 2, or 3, is required for admission to Ph.D. work and must normally be passed before the student registers for the fifth semester of graduate work. (A student working simultaneously for the M.A. degree and an area certificate in the Russian and East European Institute must pass the doctoral admission examination before registering for the sixth semester of graduate work.)

Master of Arts for Teachers Degree

Admission Requirements

Applicants should have a knowledge of the Russian language adequate for graduate study (a minimum of three years is acceptable, but four is preferred). A broad, solid undergraduate program in the liberal arts is strongly recommended. New students must take a proficiency examination in Russian before registering, and those whose performance is inadequate will be required to take appropriate courses in Russian until their proficiency reaches the level required of B.A. candidates in the department.

Major Field Requirements

A minimum of 20 credit hours, to include R501-R502, R403, and History D411 or equivalent. Students who have not had a two-semester nineteenth- and twentieth-century Russian literature course must take R263-R264 (without graduate credit) or replace these with two survey-type Russian literature survey courses at the graduate level. Students who have not taken a course in methods of teaching modern foreign languages are required to take Education M455 Methods of Teaching Modern Foreign Languages or the departmental equivalent.

Language Requirement

Active knowledge of Russian (fifth-year proficiency level).

Examination

Oral and written test of proficiency in Russian.

Doctor of Philosophy Degree

Two plans of study are offered.

Plan A: Russian Literature

Plan B: Slavic Linguistics

Plan A: Russian Literature

(A comparable program will be worked out for students choosing another Slavic literature as their major field.)

Admission Requirements

A doctoral admission examination based on the Indiana University M.A. degree in Slavic languages and literatures under Track 1 (Russian literature). Students holding an M.A. in Slavic languages and literatures from another institution will be required, at the discretion of the department, to pass this examination no later than their second semester in attendance at Indiana University.

General Requirements

1. 30 credits from M.A.
2. 12 credits from minor (if second Slavic language, must include second year).
3. R503 Old Russian Literature or R504 Eighteenth-Century Russian Literature.
4. L571 Old Church Slavonic or L576 History of the Russian Literary Language, or L501 Structure of Russian I (N.B.: if L571 or L576 used for M.A., this course must be L501).
5. Two semesters of a second Slavic language.
6. At least five literature courses in the department, including at least one seminar.

Total: 90 (at least 69 credits of course work and up to 21 credits of dissertation).

Language Requirement

Active knowledge of written and spoken Russian beyond the minimum required for the M.A.; reading knowledge of German, French, and one other Slavic language.

Qualifying Examination

Three written examinations. One will cover all genres of literature in one of the following three periods: (1) from the beginning to 1800, (2) from 1800 to 1890, (3) from 1890 to the present. The second examination will cover the whole history of Russian literature, but will be confined to all forms of narrative. The third examination will cover one of the following categories in its entirety: (1) poetry, exclusive of drama; (2) dramatic literature; (3) criticism.

All three of these written examinations are to be taken within two successive semesters. When they have been passed, an oral examination will be given shortly thereafter. The oral examination will cover not only all of Russian literature, but also the following: Russian history and culture and major literary developments in the rest of Europe, including those in the second Slavic literature. The examination will be designed to provide an opportunity for students to demonstrate the range and depth of their scholarly interests and ability.

Plan B: Slavic Linguistics

Admission Requirement

A doctoral admission examination based on the Indiana University M.A. degree in Slavic languages and literatures under Track 2 (Slavic linguistics). At the discretion of the department and based on the student's M.A.-level work, this exam may be waived.

General Requirements

1. 30 credits from M.A.
2. R505 Nineteenth-Century Russian Literature I or R506 Nineteenth-Century Russian Literature II.
3. Two semesters of a third Slavic language.
4. 12 credits from minor (if another Slavic language, must include second year).
5. Six diachronic and synchronic linguistics courses, including at least one seminar.

Total: 90 (at least 69 credits of course work and up to 21 credits of dissertation).

Language Requirement

Active knowledge of a major Slavic language beyond the minimum required for the M.A.; reading knowledge of one Slavic language from each of the other two branches and of German and French.

Qualifying Examination

Four written examinations covering (1) the general topic of Slavic synchronic linguistics, (2) a specialized area of Slavic synchronic linguistics, (3) the general topic of Slavic diachronic linguistics, and (4) a specialized area of Slavic diachronic linguistics. The topics of the two specialized exams are to be worked out together with a faculty advisor chosen by the student. All four examinations must be taken within two successive semesters. When all have been passed, an oral examination will be given shortly thereafter.
